

New frontiers in separation processes & membranes development

In Johannesburg, July 17-19

3-day workshop

at the University of Johannesburg
School of Tourism & Hospitality conference room

- Based on a bilateral partnership between South Africa & France

- Open to all stakeholders interested in improving the quality of water & air

- ▷ Plenary presentations of South African challenges regarding water & air quality
- ▷ Experts sharing broad technical knowledge & real life applications of membrane based treatments
- ▷ Open discussions to foster new collaborations and help solve issues

Join us and be part of new partnerships to meet the needs for clean water and air in South Africa

Free but requested online registration

<http://www.unesco-simev.org/en/south-africa-workshop/>

New frontiers in separation processes & membranes development

Draft agenda of the 3-day workshop

Venue : School of Tourism & Hospitality conference room

Wednesday, July 17

- Workshop official opening

Global environmental challenges : water quality in urban areas

- Presentation of South African challenges – focus on large-scale issues
- Existing expertise and potential solutions
- Open discussion

Thursday, July 18

Sustainable clean water in small communities via membrane processes - Energy supply. UNESCO SIMEV Thematic School

- Presentation of challenges (focus on small-scale issues)
- Existing expertise and potential solutions
- Open discussion

Friday, July 19

Global environmental challenges : air quality

- Existing expertise and potential solutions

Ideas for collaborative projects & Conclusion of the workshop

Contacts if you need more information

Prof. Xavier Yangkou Mbianda, Dpt of Chemical Sciences UJ mbianday@uj.ac.za
Mathilde Boucher, Communication Officer SIMEV mathilde.boucher@umontpellier.fr